- Make a Hexagon Hive template. Cut out a full Hexagon Hive and cut to desired shape.
- Lay the template on the Top Layer of Whisper White and spritz the layer with Smoky Slate. I found a lighter spritz made the color look almost blue when layered on the Island Indigo. Leave to dry.
- Do the flowers for the outside (Hint: do the inside corner at the same time). Stamp the flowers in Island Indigo and then use the Blender Pen to pull in some color to the petals. Color centers with a Crushed Curry Marker and then dot with your Two Way Glue Pen and cover with Dazzling Diamonds Glitter. Fussy Cut the outside flowers.
- Make the dragonfly wings by stamping the wings on Vellum and then fussy cut. Use the Two Way Glue pen to cover the wings with glue and then sprinkle with glitter.
- Your top layer should be dry by now and you can stamp the dots, the greeting and the dragonfly. The lighter dots are stamped off twice before stamping on layer. The dragonfly is stamped off once and then stamped on layer. All are done with Island Indigo with the stamping off giving different color tones.
- Distress the edges of the top and the first layer as well as the inside layer for a "fuzzy" effect.
- Assemble. Pop up the outside flowers with dimensionals. The dragonfly needs a glue dot on each wing and a touch of glue right in the middle. The wings should curl from the glue. The sequin trim is attached with glue dots. Stamp your name on the back and Smile!
